Current Position

Assistant Professor of Biostatistics
Georgia State University, Department of Population Health Sciences

Atlanta, GA
2026 – Present

Education

PhD	University of Michigan Department of Survey and Data Science Advisors: Drs. Trivellore Raghunathan and Michael Elliott Dissertation: Improving Inferences Based on Data Collected with Mixed-mode Designs	2024
MS	University of Michigan Department of Survey and Data Science	2019
BA	Peking University Department of Korean Language and Culture, Psychology	2015

Professional Experience

Duke University Biostatistics & Bioinformatics Department Postdoctoral Fellow (Supervisors: Drs. Hwanhee Hong and Sarah Peskoe)	Durham, NC 2024-2026
Pew Research Center International Research Methods Intern	DC, Washington 2018 summer
Center for Social Research at Peking University Research Assistant	Beijing, China 2015-2017

Presentations

Invited Talks

1. Three approaches to improve inferences based on survey data collected with mixed-mode designs. DC-American Association of Public Opinion Research (AAPOR) Webinar 2025. Virtual.
2. Three approaches to improve inferences based on survey data collected with mixed-mode designs. Joint Statistical Meetings 2025..
3. Using principal stratification to detect mode effects across waves in a longitudinal study. International Francophone Colloque on Sample Surveys 2024. Luxembourg.
4. Improving inferences based on survey data collected with mixed-mode designs. Iowa State University, Department of Statistics. 2024.

Oral Presentations

1. School mobility variations by racial composition and school region in the 1930s–1960s: Implications for late-life cognition. Population Association of America (PAA) 2025.
2. Integrating EHR and RCT data: How methods matter for enhanced clinical insights. Eastern North American Region (ENAR) 2025.
3. Using principal stratification to detect mode effects across waves in a longitudinal study. Joint Statistical Meetings (JSM) 2024.
4. Using principal stratification to detect mode effects across waves in a longitudinal study. American Association for Public Opinion Research (AAPOR) 2024.
5. Accounting for mode effects in a longitudinal study when different mixed-mode designs are used across waves using Health and Retirement Study 2016 and 2018. Midwest Association for Public Opinion Research (MAPOR) 2023.
6. Investigating mode effects in interviewer variances using two representative multi-mode surveys. European Survey Research Association (ESRA) 2023.
7. Trajectories of K–12 schools in the 1930s–1960s and cognitive aging: Variation by racial composition. Gerontological Society of America (GSA) 2022.
8. Improving inferences based on survey data collected using mixed-mode designs. Joint Statistical Meetings (JSM) 2022.
9. Improving inferences based on survey data collected using mixed-mode designs. American Association for Public Opinion Research (AAPOR) 2022.
10. Examining cross-cultural measurement comparability of Ed Diener’s Satisfaction with Life Scale through experimental data. European Survey Research Association (ESRA) 2019.
11. Social determinants of parenting in China. 18th Korean Labor & Income Panel Studies Conference 2016.

Poster Presentations

1. Evaluating variable assessment timing design in a simulation study. Gerontological Society of America (GSA) 2025.
2. Using principal stratification to detect mode effects across waves in a longitudinal study. International Conference on Health Policy Statistics 2025.
3. Evaluating the validity and quality of self-reported important life accomplishments by adults over age 50. Gerontological Society of America (GSA) 2024.
4. The early life contexts of the Health and Retirement Study HCAP sample: New insights into dementia risk factors. Gerontological Society of America (GSA) 2023.
5. Trajectories of K–12 schools and demographic differences: Evidence from the 2017 Spring and Fall Life History Mail Survey (LHMS). Gerontological Society of America (GSA) 2021.
6. Personality traits as predictors of unit nonresponse and item nonresponse in a Life History Mail Survey. American Association for Public Opinion Research (AAPOR) 2018.
